

RELATED PARTIES

BRD has, through its internal regulatory framework, clear and comprehensive rules governing the management of relationships with related parties. These rules establish the principles, responsibilities, and processes required for identifying, assessing, and monitoring relationships and transactions with related parties.

Compliance with these rules is mandatory for all organizational structures and represents an essential condition for sound corporate governance, for protecting the interests of clients and shareholders, and for maintaining a climate of trust.